
May 1st, 2020 - Law of the sea is a body of international law governing the rights and duties of states in marine environments. It concerns matters such as navigational rights, sea mineral claims, and coastal waters jurisdiction. While drawn from a number of international customary treaties and agreements, modern law of the sea derives largely from the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS).

Rethinking Jurisdiction in International Law British

May 1st, 2020 – Abstract Jurisdiction has traditionally been considered in international law as purely a question of the rights and powers of states. Conceived in this way the rules on jurisdiction serve the important function of delimiting while accepting some overlap of state regulatory authority – the question of when a person or event may be subject to national regulation – a function which is
